

Hi <Insert Manager or Supervisor Name>, (insert waving hand emojis here)

Check out this super interesting Voxxed Days Conference which is held this September in Belgrade, Serbia. It's a must-see event which covers a wide range of topics that can inspire us to grown in the right direction. Yaaas! And like a cherry on top, there's no big giant (corpo) heads – the whole event is organized by the local community. Sounds like a tech heaven, right?

The lineup is absolutely bonkers (<https://belgrade.voxxeddays.com/speakers/>) so together we can make out our wish list. Last year they rocked it, so I would really like to experience it this year.

And they have a great steam punk theme drawn by Aleksa Gajic - <https://belgrade.voxxeddays.com/>.

Please, let me know if you would be my genie from the bottle (insert gost emojis here).

p.s. I heard that coffee in Belgrade is awesome, and I can do some remote coding there too!

Thanks!
